

Nahuel Villegas

Vice President, Latin America

Nahuel Villegas leads SDVI's sales presence in Latin America, bringing supply chain transformation to media companies that need to deliver more content to more customers across a broader range of platforms.

Villegas has more than 25 years of experience in leadership roles in sales, pre-sales, business development and services, bringing transformative technologies to market and finding ways to connect customer needs with the best solutions to address those needs.

Over his career, Villegas has led sales efforts for leading M&E and Telcom technology companies including Grass Valley, AT&T, Imagine Communications, Harris Broadcast, and Lucent Technologies. He has been instrumental in developing and implementing go-to-market strategies that generated consistent customer and revenue growth in the territories, including Latin America.

