

Alex Emmermann

VP of Business Development

Alex is a seasoned executive who specializes in cloud-based solutions for the media and entertainment industry. He has a proven track record of driving new business, managing relationships, and delivering value to customers across various segments and markets.

As the Vice President of Business Development at SDVI Corporation, Alex leverages his experience building and operating media supply chain platforms to help customers increase productivity, flexibility, and efficiency by moving into the cloud with SDVI's Rally platform. He is passionate about solving complex challenges, creating innovative solutions, and building long-term partnerships. His core competencies include customer relationship management, mobile applications, technology management, and consultative solution selling.

